MORE THAN JUST A FURNITURE BRAND

FROM SKETCH TO LIVING ROOM:

Amuma Living, making great design accessible

Family-owned

We're Amuma Living, a Dutch family-owned furniture brand now based in Melbourne. With backgrounds in design and experience within both the European and Australian glamping and resort industries, we set out to create a range that blends sustainability with timeless style. Every piece we offer is made with care and a clear purpose — to last, to stand out, and to fit into real spaces.

Timeless shapes

We create furniture you won't find anywhere else. Bold statement pieces in natural tones, designed to stand out. Many of our items are made from reclaimed materials and feature unique designs we've developed ourselves. Our focus is on sustainability, durability, and timeless shapes that bring character to any space.

“For us, sustainability isn't just a trend. It means using reclaimed materials where we can, designing pieces that last, and making choices that are better for the planet and the people using our furniture. We believe good design should be thoughtful from start to finish.”

Small-batch production

We believe in doing things differently. Our pieces aren't mass-produced. They're designed with intention and built to last. We use honest materials, focus on sustainability, and work closely with professionals who value quality and originality. Some of our furniture is even made in our own factory, allowing us to keep our designs personal and our standards high.

Your dream space awaits

Whether it's your own home or a space you're creating for someone else, we're here to help make it feel just right. We keep things simple. Good design, honest materials, and furniture that brings a room together. Tell us what you're working on, and we'll help you bring it to life.

The team

“I’ve been working with furniture for most of my life. Studied it, built it by hand, and still get excited every time we start something new. What I enjoy most is designing pieces that actually mean something to people. Something that feels right in their home, not just looks good.”

Niels, Designer & Manager

“As a stylist, I’ve always believed that a space comes together when you start with the right furniture. It’s more than just placing items in a room – it’s about creating a feeling. That’s what I love most about what we do at Amuma.”

Annie, Sales & Interior Stylist

“Our journey began over 16 years ago in the world of glamping and resort design. With Glamxperience, we’ve travelled, built, and learned so much about how people unwind and enjoy their space. Amuma grew from that same passion. One that’s all about comfort, atmosphere, and thoughtful design.”
